7. Selection Method

Date	Subjects	Note
January 30, 2027 (Sat.)	Presentation of research outline and oral examination	Details of the date and time as well as the examination room will be informed to each applicant when an examination admission card is sent.

* During the oral examination, we will also assess your suitability as a pharmaceutical researcher.

* If, based on the results of the oral examination, it is determined that the applicant lacks the aptitude to be a pharmaceutical researcher, the applicant will be deemed ineligible.

* Applicants are selected based on a comprehensive evaluation of the following:

- Results of presentation of research outline and oral examination (70 points); English score (TOEFL-iBT®, TOEIC or IELTS Score is converted to a 20-point scale); and application documents (10 points)
  For the conversion of TOEFL-iBT®, TOEIC or IELTS Score, please see "13. English Score" below.
- Individuals Exempt from Submitting English Proficiency Scores: Results of presentation of research outline and oral examination (70 points) and application documents (30 points)

8. Announcement of Examination Results

Successful applicants will be listed on the website (https://www.phs.osaka-u.ac.jp) at 2:00 pm on February 10, 2027 (Wed.). Successful applicants will also individually receive an acceptance letter. Telephone or e-mail inquiries are not accepted.

9. Enrollment Procedures

Successful applicants will be notified of details about the enrollment procedures.

10. Necessary Fees for Enrollment

Admission fee: ¥282,000
Tuition fee: ¥535,800 (annual tuition)
The tuition fee is withdrawn from the account in two equal installments (¥267,900 each).

(1) The above fees are valid as of April 2026 and are subject to change. The fees for the 2027 academic year will be confirmed before the admission procedure starts.
(2) In the case of a change in tuition fee during a school term, the revised tuition fee will be applicable as of the date when it becomes effective.
(3) Those who apply for the doctoral course of this Graduate School immediately after completing the master's course are exempt from the admission fee payment.
(4) Those admitted as a Japanese Government Scholarship Student at the time of entering the Graduate School are exempt from the admission fee and tuition fee payments.

11. Scholarship Program

The Graduate School of Pharmaceutical Sciences has a scholarship program to support high-caliber graduate students enrolled in the Department of Pharmaceutical Sciences for their studies and research during the first year of enrollment. The amount of the scholarship is equivalent to the tuition fee, available for the year of enrollment only. Details about the scholarship program will be notified after enrollment.

12. Handling of Personal Information

(1) The names, addresses and other personal information obtained from applicants are used for entrance examination purposes such as the selection of students (handling of applications and selection examinations) and admission procedures only.
For successful applicants, personal information might be used for providing information about educational programs which can be registered after entering The University of Osaka.
For those admitted to The University of Osaka, personal information is also used for student administration purposes (school register control and course-taking instructions), student support (health management), and tuition fee collection.

(2) Entrance examination results and other data are used for tabulation and analysis of the examination results and research and study on appropriate applicant selection methods.

(3) In conducting admission procedures, we may outsource some tasks to external contractors. In such cases, we will enter into contracts with external contractors to ensure that personal information is handled appropriately, and will provide them with all or part of the personal information submitted at the time of application.

14. Cautions

(1) An applicant requiring special assistance for taking an entrance examination or studying after admission should inform the Educational Affairs Section to this effect before applying.

(2) Examination fees are not refunded except in the following cases:
   a) an applicant is found not to be qualified for the examination after submitting the application documents,
   b) application documents arrive after the close of the acceptance period and hence are rejected,
   c) application documents are incomplete, or contain errors and omissions and hence are rejected,
   d) examination fees are paid but the applicant does not submit the application documents within the acceptance period,
   e) examination fees are paid twice erroneously.
   In above case, the applicant should make a claim for a refund of the examination fees to the University. For the detailed procedures, contact the Educational Affairs Section.

(3) After they are submitted, application documents may not be corrected in any manner.

(4) If false information is found in an application for admission, application qualification assessment form, or any of the application documents, the enrollment may be cancelled even if the applicant has been accepted for enrollment.

(5) Cars and motorcycles are not permitted on the campus.

(6) Some collaborative courses established under special projects, etc. are offered for a limited period of time only. After the period is over, students enrolled in such a course will continue to be given research guidance at the laboratory of the Graduate School of Pharmaceutical Sciences responsible for operating the course.

(7) Security Export Control
   In accordance with Japan's "Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Act" (hereinafter referred to as the "Act"), The University of Osaka has established the "The University of Osaka Security Export Control Regulations" and rigorously implements security export control for the export of goods and the transfer of technology (including accepting foreigners).
   Please be aware that applicants who fall under any of the conditions set out in the Act may not receive permission to enroll at the university or may have their education or research restricted after their enrollment.
