3. Type of Students Sought by the Graduate School

https://www.osaka-u.ac.jp/en/admissions/faculty/admission_policy

4. Admission Requirements

Eligible applicants are those international students* who fulfill any one of the following requirements.

* In principle, international students mean those with the status of residence of “Student” under the Immigration Control and Refugee Recognition Act, including those expected to be granted such status of residence by April 2023.

- (1) An applicant who has graduated or expects to graduate from a Japanese university or a Japanese professional university by March 31,2023.
- (2) An applicant who has earned or expects to earn a bachelor’s degree from the National Institution for Academic Degrees and Quality Enhancement of Higher Education by March 31, 2023.
- (3) An applicant who has completed or expects to complete 16 years of formal school study in a foreign country by March 31,2023.
- (4) An applicant who has completed correspondence courses in Japan which are administered by foreign schools and thus has completed 16 years of formal school education in the said country or expects to complete such by March 31,2023.
- (5) An applicant who has graduated from a foreign university (including a foreign university which is equivalent to a Japanese professional university; the same shall apply hereinafter) which is positioned as a university in the school education system of that country, or who is expected to do so by March 31,2023. The said university must be recognized by the Minister of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology of the Japanese Government. In this case, the applicant must have completed 16 years of formal education in the said country.
- (6) An applicant who has completed an academic program of either a foreign university or a foreign educational institution (limited to those whose comprehensive progress of education and research has been evaluated by an external party certified by its government or related agency, or an institution designated as equivalent by the Minister of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology of the Japanese Government) whose term of study is at least 3 years (including completion of the said program in Japan and earning credits from its institution's correspondence course or from an educational facility established in Japan under the school education system of the said foreign country designated in the preceding issue), and who has earned or expects to earn a bachelor's degree or an equivalent degree by March 31,2023.

- (7) An applicant who has graduated from a specialized course of a college which is recognized by the Minister of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology of the Japanese Government, on or after the date designated by the Minister, or who is expected to do so by March 31,2023. The college must fulfill the criteria designated by the Minister of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology of the Japanese Government, including a term of study of four years or more.
- (8) An applicant who is accredited by the Minister of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology of the Japanese Government (Notification No. 5 of the Education Ministry dated February 7, 1953).
- (9) An applicant who will be at least 22 years old by March 31,2023 and who is accredited by the Graduate School of Pharmaceutical Science via the pre-application screening as having appropriate academic ability for a graduate student.

5. Pre-application Screening

In the case of applicants falling under category (9) of the Admission Requirements shown above, a pre-application screening is necessary. An applicant may submit an application for admission after passing the pre-application screening.

All applications must be sent via recorded postal delivery (kani-kakitome), using an envelope of 33cm×24cm in size, and must reach the university by the designated date.

8. Selection Method

- (1) The examinations will be conducted as follows
- (2) You may choose the examination venue between Tokyo and Osaka (Graduate School of Pharmaceutical Sciences of Osaka University) if applying for the collaborative course offered by Osaka University, the National Institute of Health Sciences and the National Institutes of Biomedical Innovation, Health and Nutrition (in the areas of primate research and medicinal plant resources). Other applicants should take the examination at the Graduate School of Pharmaceutical Sciences of Osaka University.

Date	Subjects	Note
February 22, 2023 (Wed.)	Presentation of past studies and oral examination	Details of the date and time as well as the examination room will be informed to each applicant when an examination admission card is sent.

(3)

Applicants are selected based on a comprehensive evaluation of the following:

- Non-native English speakers: Results of presentation of research outline and oral examination (60 points); English score (TOEFL-iBT® or TOEIC Score is converted to a 20-point scale); and academic transcript (20 points)

For the conversion of TOEFL-iBT® or TOEIC Score, please see “13.English Score” below.

- Native English speakers: Results of presentation of research outline and oral examination (60 points) and academic transcript (40 points).

9. Announcement of Examination Results

Successful applicants will be listed on the website (<https://www.phs.osaka-u.ac.jp>) at 2:00 pm on March 8, 2023 (Wed.). Successful applicants will also individually receive an acceptance letter. Telephone or e-mail inquiries are not accepted.

10. Enrollment Procedures

Successful applicants will be notified of details about the enrollment procedures.

11. Necessary Fees for Enrollment

Admission fee: ¥282,000

Tuition fee: ¥535,800 (annual tuition)

The tuition fee is withdrawn from the account in two equal installments (¥267,900 each).

- (1) The above fees are valid as of April 2022 and are subject to change. The fees for the 2023 academic year will be confirmed before the admission procedure starts.
- (2) In the case of a change in tuition fee during a school term, the revised tuition fee will be applicable as of the date when it becomes effective.
- (3) Those admitted as a Japanese Government Scholarship Student at the time of entering the Graduate School are exempt from the admission fee and tuition fee payments.

12. Handling of Personal Information

- (1) The names, addresses and other personal information obtained from applicants are used for entrance examination purposes such as the selection of students (handling of applications and selection examinations) and admission procedures only.
For successful applicants, personal information might be used for providing information about educational programs which can be registered after entering Osaka University.
For those admitted to Osaka University, personal information is also used for student administration purposes (school register control and course-taking instructions), student support (health management), and tuition fee collection.
- (2) Entrance examination results and other data are used for tabulation and analysis of the examination results and research and study on appropriate applicant selection methods.

14. Cautions

- (1) An applicant requiring special assistance for taking an entrance examination or studying after admission should inform the Students Section to this effect before applying.
- (2) Examination fees are not refunded except in the following cases:
 - a) an applicant is found not to be qualified for the examination after submitting the application documents,
 - b) application documents arrive after the close of the acceptance period and hence are rejected,
 - c) application documents are incomplete, or contain errors and omissions and hence are rejected,
 - d) examination fees are paid but the applicant does not submit the application documents within the acceptance period,
 - e) examination fees are paid twice erroneously.

In the case of d) and e) above, the applicant should make a claim for a refund of the examination fees to the University. For the detailed procedures, contact the Students Section.

- (3) After they are submitted, application documents may not be corrected in any manner.
- (4) If false information is found in an application for admission, application qualification assessment form, or any of the application documents, the enrollment may be cancelled even if the applicant has been accepted for enrollment.
- (5) Cars and motorcycles are not permitted on the campus.
- (6) Some collaborative courses established under special projects, etc. are offered for a limited period of time only. After the period is over, students enrolled in such a course will continue to be given research guidance at the laboratory of the Graduate School of Pharmaceutical Sciences responsible for operating the course.
- (7) The impact on the conduct of admissions and responses to shortage situations will be posted on the Graduate School of Pharmaceutical Sciences website as needed. Please be sure to check the website.
